It seems not too long ago many people were posting their rendition of this song and such, so I decided to take every version of this song that was posted and turn it into what I thought was a decent version, based on sound and ease of play.

The Beatles

In My Life

Main Riff: E----5-----0-4-
           B--2---2-3-----
           G--2-----

There are places I'll remember
           A                  F#m

All my life though some have changed
           Bm Dm          A

Some for ever not for better
           A                  F#m

Some have gone, and some remain.
           Bm Dm          A

All these places have their moments
           F#m                  Bm

With lovers and friends, I still can recall
           G                  A

Some are dead and some are living
           F#m                  Bm

In my life, I've loved them all
           D Dm          A

{Repeat main riff, and continue as verse above}

But of all these friends and lovers
 There is no one compared with you
 And these memories lose their meaning
 When I think of love as something new Thought I know I'll never lose affection
 For people and things that went before
 I know I'll often stop and think about them

In my life I'll love you more
In my life I'll love you more

At the end, there is the first riff above, then a higher Dm (played as a bar chord at the 5th fret) then the riff below:

This is the famous Beatles song In My Life.
It appeared on their 1965 album Rubber Soul.
John sang this one. I have also tabbed out the electric piano solo by SIR:George Martin.

 There are places I'll remember, all my life, though some have changed

(E7) (F#m) (A7) (D)(Dm) (A)
 Some forever, not for better, some have gone and some remain.

(F#m) (Bm) (G) (A)
 All these places had their moments, with lovers and friends, I still can recal.

(F#m) (B) (D) (A)
 Some are dead and some are living. In my life I've loved them all.
